THE WOMEN'S CENTER'S PROGRAM: Community Education

Our Community Education Specialist provides age-appropriate education and prevention programs to prevent violence, such as dealing with bullies and safe dating. By defining and teaching acceptable behaviors and giving suggestions on actions to take if an incident occurs to students, we help create awareness of the effects of sexual assault, mitigate victim-blaming behaviors, and help break the secrecy that often keeps a child or youth from confiding to an adult.

Our approach is to educate young people at all levels beginning in grade school and continuing through high school and into college. By assuming a crisis intervention and prevention role, The Women's Center's Community Education Specialist is many times a victim's first contact with The Women's Center.

"Cut it Out", a national program of the Salons Against Domestic Abuse Fund

"I was involved in an abusive relationship my senior year of high school. I went through a very traumatic experience. With The Women's Center's help I was able to realize what I went through wasn't my fault and found the confidence in myself that was stripped away so many years ago. The Women's Center had an immense impact on me being able to break free from my relationship. They helped me become the person I am today and allowed me to be able to tell my story and spread awareness."

THE WOMEN'S CENTER'S PROGRAM: Shelter

The Women's Center provides safety and support to women and their children affected by domestic violence. Sister House, our emergency refuge, offers shelter and a sense of safety and relief to victims. During her stay at Sister House, a woman can meet with a domestic violence counselor or attend a group session. She can also get help with employment or parenting issues. Children can talk to a counselor, but we also create opportunities for them to play games, have fun and just be children for awhile. Sister House can accommodate up to 32 women and children. In 2010, 157 women and 149 children found safety at Sister House for a total of 5,760 nights of care.

"The Women's Center has literally helped me and my daughter put our lives back on track. Fleeing from an abusive situation left me with a feeling of no hope. That all changed when I moved into the Shelter. We were welcomed with love, support and guidance. Not having a family to turn to was very stressful, but with encouragement and support from all staff members, I was helped to overcome my fears of not being able to make it on my own. They all had faith in me, when I didn't know I had it in myself."
